

KGID
2025
Green Growth:
The Path to Sustainable Jobs
Korea Green Innovation Days
October 20–22, 2025
Washington, D.C., USA

Day 3. Breakout Session

Session 3-3 Driving the Future of Urban Mobility

Speaker Bios

Ana Waksberg Guerrini, Senior Urban Transport Specialist & Global Co-Lead for Urban Mobility, Transport Global Practice, World Bank

Ana Waksberg Guerrini is a Senior Urban Transport Specialist and Global Lead of the Inclusive Urban Mobility and Accessibility Knowledge Group at the World Bank. She leads global work on urban mobility, e-mobility, and sector modernization. e-mobility, supporting flagship projects and policy dialogues across regions. Previously, Ana directed public policy for DiDi Chuxing/99app in Brazil and worked on transport sector reform and smart mobility in Latin America. She also served in the public sector and as a consultant for state and municipal governments in Brazil. She holds a PhD in Information Society and Public Sector Management (Universitat Oberta de Catalunya), an MSc in Latin American Studies (University of Oxford), and a BA in Economics (University of São Paulo).

Fang Xu, Senior Transport Specialist, IAET1, World Bank

Fang Xu is a Senior Transport Specialist at the World Bank with 19 years of experience across Africa, East Asia, and South Asia. She has led complex operations on urban mobility, regional integration, and resilient transport development, working closely with energy, urban, and IFC teams. Previously, she served in the Independent Evaluation Group (IEG), where she co-led evaluations on regional integration and urban transport. Fang began her World Bank career as a Young Professional and holds a Master's in Public Administration from Harvard University and a PhD in International Finance from Fudan University.

Ellin Ivarsson, Transport Specialist, World Bank Group

Ellin Ivarsson is a Transport Specialist in the West & Central Africa Transport team. Her work focuses on the analysis and application of new technologies to address transportation challenges, as well as investment lending in urban mobility and rural transport.

KGID 2025

Green Growth: The Path to Sustainable Jobs

Korea Green Innovation Days
October 20–22, 2025
Washington, D.C., USA

Inchul Hwang, Senior Energy Specialist, IEAE1, World Bank

Inchul Hwang is a Senior Energy Specialist based in Songdo, World Bank Korea office. He is working various energy efficiency (EE) and renewable energy (RE) projects in Mongolia, and Pacific Island Countries (PICs). He is leading Korea Green Growth Trust Fund (KGGTF) grant on PIC e-mobility and energy efficiency. He serves as an institutional knowledge facilitator of Korean good practices related to EE, RE, and energy transition for WBG and clients.

Prior to joining the Bank, Inchul held several roles of operating energy efficiency and renewable energy policies at a national agency (Korea Energy Agency). He holds a master in Energy and Earth Resources from University of Texas at Austin and a bachelor in Business Administration from Korea University.

Sujin Kim, Principal Transport Specialist, Seoul Urban Solution Agency(SUSA)

Sujin Kim majored in transportation engineering and has 18 years of experience in the private sector and 7 years in public institutions. He possesses extensive experience in traditional transportation engineering and Intelligent Transportation System implementation projects, coupled with knowledge of governance, policies and systems, making his highly knowledgeable in both practical technology and policy.

Young Ho Kim, Senior Research Fellow, Korea Transport Institute (KOTI)

Dr. Youngho Kim is a Senior Research Fellow at the Korea Transport Institute (KOTI), specializing in transport policy, safety, and mobility innovation. With over 20 years of experience, he has led numerous national projects and published extensively. From 2017 to 2018, he served as a Senior Transport Specialist at the World Bank. Dr. Kim holds a Ph.D. in Transport Engineering from the Technical University of Munich and completed his undergraduate and graduate studies at Seoul National University.